TWIN-PRIME MISSION STATEMENT

Twin-Prime is committed to leveling the playing field in college admissions by making elite SAT preparation accessible to all students, regardless of income. While free resources are widely available, the achievement gap remains stark: 33% of students from the top 0.1% of income earners score above 1300 on the SAT, compared to just 0.6% from the bottom 20%.

John Yatsko, who began teaching the SAT while at Columbia and later earned his Master's from Harvard, founded Twin Prime to address this inequality. Raised by a single mother with only a high school education, John has become one of the most highly rated and in-demand tutors in the country. His students, on average, score 1515 on the SAT, with many gaining admission to Ivy League schools.

Twin-Prime's goal is to scale John's proven method. Through an extensive video library, a rich bank of practice questions, and an AI-powered personalized curriculum, Twin-Prime delivers top-tier SAT instruction to every student, everywhere.
